Turks Suffer Most In Exchange Of Citizens With Greece Under Treaty

(By LOUISE BRYANT)

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 20. — The exchange of populations between Greece and Turkey—one of the sternest measures for preserving peace ever decided upon by two nations—is now under way. The Turkish commission has asked the National Assembly at Angora for ten million Turkish pounds to expend in this work, but even with this sum forthcoming the Turks are bound to suffer far more than the Greeks because relief societies are aiding the latter. Greece also has obtaind a loan thru the League of Nations.

The returning Turks who are entirely without means are being allotted to villages, decided upon by the commission, which is distributing them proportionately all over Turkey. Housing conditions and unemployment are appalling. One can imagine the acuteness of the situation next winter when it is considered that two hundred thousand Turks will return from Thrace alone. All empty houses have been requisitioned, but these are vastly inadequate.

The government cannot begin to take care of the orphans. Turkey's splendid peace found her nation in rags.

FIVE THOUSAND ENJOY FIFTY THIRD ANNUAL CHILI PICNIC

With ideal weather favoring, one of the largest crowds that has ever assembled in the county outside of Coshocton attended the annual Chili picnic held in Mizer's grove under the auspices of the Chili Lutheran Church, Saturday.

It was estimated by the committee in charge of the day's program that well over 5,000 people, from all sections of this county, as well as form several other counties were present. Until almost noon only a few cars had arrived. But during the two hours that followed automobiles poured in from all the roads that threaded the scenic country 'round the village, until every parking space was taken and many machines stood at the foot of the hill near the grounds.

A well arranged program was splendidly carried out. oon after the huge basket dinner in the shade of the great oaks the speaking program was opened by Rev. M. W. Wappner of the Coshocton Emmanuel Lutheran church. The Rev. Mr. Wappner discussed the elements of good citizenship, emphasizing a necessity of national pride, community interest and religious inclination. The next speaker, the Rev. Mr. Maier of the Chili Methodist church, spoke on "The Ideal Citizen". He deplored the failure of many Ohio citizens to vote at the recent primary election, and exhorted his listeners to always be law-abiding citizens, and especially to abide by the eighteenth amendment, if they would have our nation stand. Attorney Harry Kempf, of St. Louis, Mo., formerly a resident of Chili, spoke in lighter vein than the preceding speakers, giving interesting Chili history and recalling to the minds of former associates amusing school-day incidents. SAYS DIVORCE IS NOW ON DECLINE

Chicago Judge Says Hasty War Marriages Caused Many Separations

CHICAGO, Aug. 20—The divorce "evil" is on the decline, according to Judge Walter P. Steffen, of the Court of Domestic Relations of Chicago. He accounts for its tobogganing by saying that young people in this country, as in other, are getting over the mania for hasty marriages. The mania reached its zenith during the World war, he explained when quite a number of young women married a "uniform" rather than the man inside it, only to discover, subsequently, that her husband, attired in "civies," did not please her.

Judge Steffen also reiterated and that quite emphatically, an old maxim, to wit: "There are few divorces where the tying of the nuptial knot has been preceded by a prolonged and genuine courtship."

Americans in China Sought For Gun Plot

Smuggling Cabal Is Charged by U. S. Attorney in Shanghai

BY EDNA LEE BOOKER

SHANGHAI, Aug. 20—Shanghai is the center of a gigantic organization dealing in illicit arms and ammunition which has handled deals in guns and shells running into the millions of dollars, according to United States District Attorney Leonard G. Husar.

For some time Husar has been secretly running down the gunrunners and the arrest of prominent Americans in connection with the gun smuggling charges has thrown a bomb into the foreign community.

The case promises to be the most sensational and wide-spread criminal proceedings ever held in the United States Court in China.

From Mukden, in Manchuria, to Canton, in Southern China, and to Hankow, hundreds of miles up the Yangtze, Husar has been combing China in an effort to round up the evidence.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Captain L. D. Kearney, a famous character in China, who has sailed the Yangtze River for many years and who now is the head of the Kearney Company.

Captain Kearney is alleged to be the head of the gang of smugglers, but all efforts up to date to arrest him have failed.

Two arrests which created a surprise recently were that of Mrs. Elizabeth Stein, wife of C. V. Stein, a former lieutenant in the United States Army and at present adviser to Marshal Chang Tso-lin, the Dictator of Manchuria, and of J. J. Malones, local bas-

BLOOD AND IRON POLICY INVOKED TO SAVE GERMANY

Neither Monarchist Nor Communist Conniving To Be Tolerated

BY S. D. WEYER

BERLIN, Aug. 20—"Any attempt by extremists—either Monarchists or Communists—against law and order and against the Republican government will be put down ruthlessly, if necessary, with a policy of blood and iron," Wilhelm Sollmann, new minister of the interior, declared today in an exclusive interview with the International News Service.

"The present government of Chancellor Stresemann will prove stronger than any of its predecessors since the revolution.

"The coalition government, including the leaders of the German Peoples party and Chancellor Stresemann, consider a Democratic Republic the only form of government upon which Germany can live, thrive and develop."

In keeping with the attitude of all the other ministerial utterances since Stresemann assumed power, Sollmann refrained from violent denunciations of the French, such as were the order of the day during the regime of Herr Cuno. His remarks to a large extent bore out the belief that the new government will make a supreme effort to come to an understanding with France upon the Ruhr reparations issue upon an honorable basis.

"Political activity may come when a declaration from the government shall have found some official echo from France," Sollmann said.

"True," he continued, "real, decisive improvement in internal conditions is impossible so long as the Ruhr struggle lasts and the reparations question is unsettled, but the government is determined not to let Germany bleed to death from internal hemorrhage. We have strength enough to avert it. Talk of civil war must cease. One of our chief tasks will be to establish friendly relations between Berlin and Saxony which is communistically governed, just as the Bavarian government is ruled by Nationalists."

COSHOCTON MAN'S AUTO RUNS DOWN AND FATALLY INJURES MOTHER AND DAUGHTER SUN.

Mrs. Effie Lawrence, Aged 53, and Miss Mae Lawrence, Aged 32, of West Lafayette Are Struck From Rear Off Right Side of Pavement While Returning Home From Village—Other Members Escape—Deaths Occur in Coshocton Hospital Early Monday

Mrs. Effie Lawrence, 53, who resided one mile west of West Lafayette, died at the City hospital Monday morning at 4:20 o'clock and her daughter, Mae Lawrence, 32, of the same residence, died at the hospital this morning at 12:05 o'clock, both from fractured skulls as a result of being struck and knocked down by a Nash touring car driven by William Clary, 411 south Tenth-st on the West Lafayette-rd near the first overhead bridge, just west of Lafayette, at 10 o'clock Sunday night.

Mrs. Lawrence, and her two daughters, Mae and Ethel, the latter aged 18, her son, Ulyssus Lawrence and his wife, were walking west on the north side of the road when they were struck. Mrs. Lawrence and her daughter Mae were walking behind Ethel, Ulyssus and his wife. Ethel was knocked down but was not seriously hurt. The Nash was going in the same direction as the people were walking.

According to Clary, bright lights from an automobile coming in the opposite direction blinded him and he failed to see the pedestrians ahead of his machine in time to stop. He claims that he was not going more than 10 miles an hour when he ran into the women. He also said that he stopped his car immediately after he struck them.

A relative of the two women victims said Monday that he understood there were two cars coming from the direction of Coshocton, racing with bright headlights which blinded Clary. He also understood that the women were off the paved road at the time they were struck. He also said that they had been walking on the paved road and when one car came speeding along they decided to get off the pavement and walk along the side of it. The relative did not attach any blame to Clary, whose machine struck the women.

Immediately following the accident, Dr. Wilmer Hammond of West Lafayette was called to the scene of the accident and administered medical aid. Later the patients were removed to the hospital, where Dr. Hammond and Dr. F. M. Marshall, of this city, performed operations upon the women.

Mae Lawrence had a badly lacerated skull in addition to the fracture. No bones were broken in either of the two women. Whether the car ran over the mother and daughter after they were struck, is unknown. Besides Clary, his wife and Mr. and Mrs. William Shannon of Coshocton were riding in the car.

Mrs. Lawrence was formerly of Maysville. For the past three years the Lawrence family has

DEATH RATE FROM SCARLET FEVER IS LOW IN COSHOCTON

Coshocton County's death rate from scarlet fever stands below the average death rate of all Ohio counties for the past 12 years.

The average death rate from scarlet fever of all counties for this period is 4.6. This means that of every 100,000 deaths, 4.6 were due to scarlet fever.

The average rate for this county for the same period, 1909-1921, was 1.5.

These figures are from a compilation of county death rates recently concluded by C. E. Lively of the Ohio State University from figures supplied by the state board of health. Prof. Lively undertook the tabulation to see if there were significant differences in the rates of urban and rural counties.

No consistent differences appeared. Clermont County had the lowest rate, 1.0.

COSHOCTON GAINS FULL GAME IN PENNANT RACE WITH GREYS

REGULARS OUTCLASS AFFEFAS IN LAST CLASH OF SEASON WITH THE CAMBRIDGE OUTFIT

Hildebrant's Homer with Cushions Crowded Takes Pep Out of Guernsey Lads in the Fifth—Rea Holds Home Team Away From Plate Until Late Inning—Regulars Play Canton Here Thursday and Mansfield There Next Sunday

The Coshocton Regulars celebrated their last meeting with the Cambridge Eastern Ohio League aggregation Sunday afternoon by giving them a trouncing on the East Cambridge lot. The score was 14 to 1.

Yetserday's victory made Coshocton four consecutive wins from Cambridge this season. Coshocton won a double header from the Afefas on Decoration Day at Lake Park, won one on Sunday, July 22 at Cambridge and yesterday at Cambridge.

Just before the time of the contest at 2:30 o'clock, Jupe Pluvius made efforts to ruin the game. It rained for at least fifteen minutes. The diamond attendants used brooms in an effort to remove the water. Both the infield and outfield were muddy.

At 3 o'clock the game was started. The Regulars were slow in getting to the diamond. When the first few of the Regulars were sighted by the Coshocton fans they let out a yell of joy. Neither side took practice before the game.

Dropha was given his first defeat of the year in the first inning yesterday. The big right hander yielded four safeties and three runs before he was derricked in the initial frame. Manager Joe Munn replaced Dropha with "Lefty" Gantz, former Canton Noaker hurler. Gantz succeeded in retiring the two final Regulars without further trouble.

Orve Rea retired the Afefas in order in the first.

Things went smoothly for "Lefty" Gantz until the fifth frame when the slugging Regulars began their attack on the southpaw's offerings and netted three markers. Manager Munn discovered that "Lefty" could no longer keep the Regulars in check so Gantz was retired in favor of Romacker, of Akron, a new addition to the Afefas' pitching staff. Behen came in from center tnd took second sack and Gantz went to center garden. Ballou retired from second. Before retiring Gantz was responsible for filling the bases.

With the bases filled Catcher Hildebrandt pasted the ball over the left field fence for a homer. It was the first ball pitched to Hildebrandt by Romacker. When the fog cleared away in the fifth, the Regulars had chalked up 7 counters.

The Robertsons annexed three more tallies off Romacker's slants in the following inning. Again in the seventh the Regulars pushed over a run.

The Afefas secured nine hits but all were well scattered. None of the Afefas reached third base until the ninth inning, when they scored for the first time during the game.

Behen led off with a terrific single. Bates was sent in to pinch hit for Palish. Bates singled between first and second bases and Behen scored. Wooley advanced Bates when he grounded out. Bates got as far as third base and there's where he remained while the other two outs were made.

Robertson's men hammered the Afefas' pitcher for twelve well bunched hits. A home run and a double were the longest hits made by the Regulars.

Leo Unger bagged three singles out of five trials. Every player on the local nine secuerd hits except Witt and Rea.

The Regulars began their out-of-town journey on Sundays yesterday. On next Sunday the Regulars go to Mansfield for a game and on the following Sunday the locals journey to Mt. Vernon to clash with Manager Schweitzer's crew.

The Coshocton nine is not at home on Sunday until after Labor Day, according to the schedule.

On Thursday evening at 5:30 o'clock this week, Coshocton and Canton clash in a postponed game at Lake Park. Canton trimmed the Zanesville Greys yesterday at Mark Park by a score of 11 to 8. The Noakers and Regulars have met only once this season and that was at Lake Park several weeks ago. The Regulars defeated the Noakers at that time 7 to 4 in a hot game.

The Noakers are one of the hardest teams in the league to defeat.

There were at least 250 fans from Coshocton at the game yesterday at Cambridge.

The Coshocton Regulars climbed another notch toward first position in the Eastern Ohio League Sunday by virtue of their defeat of Cambridge and Canton's win over the Zanesville Greys.

The Regulars have lost the least number of games in the league. The Grey's comfortable lead is dwindling and Manager Robertson entertains hopes of winning the pennant.

If the Coshocton aggregation had more league games with Zanesville this season, there would be nothing to it but Coshocton, the local management declares. Manager Robertson believes he has the strongest team in the league, but Zanesville is a winner also.

The Mt. Vernon aggregation came from behind in yesterday's battle with the Columbus Rutledges and won by a score of 5 to 4. The game was played at Mt. Vernon. Henderson, Smith and Elliott formed the battery for Columbus, while Bodie and Berry were on the firing line for the Mounts.

Mt. Vernon secured 11 hits and Columbus 8. The Rutledges had four errors and the Mounts none.

The weather man prevented the Mendels and Mansfield from tangling yesterday.

The Zanesville Greys will cross bats with the Newark Mendels in a postponed game at Mark Park Thursday. Jim Vaughn and his fast General Tires from Akron were scheduled to play the Gerys Thursday at Zanesville but the Greys cancelled with the Vaughnmen to play off the game with Newark.

The Coshocton Regulars play off a postponed game with the Canton Noakers at Lake Park Thursday evening at 5:30 o'clock. Umpire Lowery will officiate.

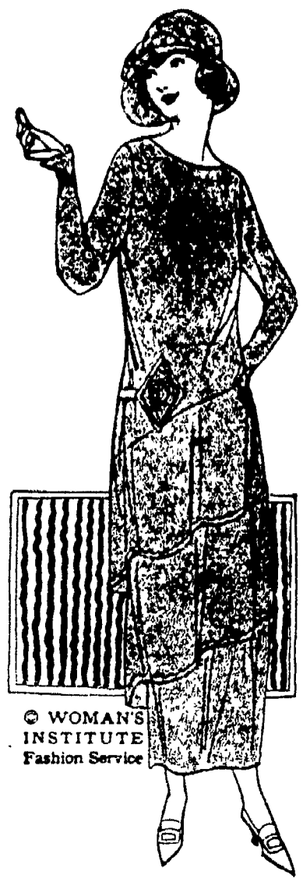
Touch of Early Fall in Poiret Twill With Tiers



© WOMAN'S INSTITUTE Fashion Service

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

Circular tiers, a wrap-around skirt, and distinguished simplicity all come trooping into one's mind upon seeing this model of navy Poiret twill. One might be very slender and wear this type becomingly and one might be almost slender and wear it with real distinction. In the latter case, the tiers should be cut and placed so that, in their fulness and slant of line, they definitely help to express slenderness.

Over a plain, almost narrow skirt, the waist section should be fitted and the tiers then placed in position, the work being surveyed in the mirror to make sure that the tiers are the right distance apart and that the fulness is rightly placed for becomingness.

For the ornaments, the floss may be chosen in clover, cork, Cleopatra blue, and black, or in gray, navy blue, and silver with just a wee bit of clover color.

Moire, grosgrain, or silk ribbon binding may be effectively used in binding the tiers and sleeves, as well as shirred or plaited in diamond-shaped pacques for the ornaments, the centers of which may have a bright color.

If your skin is so tender that you expect sunburn, rub it well with Vicks before exposure.

After sunburn, apply Vicks gently—do not rub in. It soothes burn and often averts blisters.

For any outdoor vacation, Vicks is "standard equipment." It eases attacks of hay fever, asthma, catarrh and summer colds. Fine for sore feet, too.

BETTER WHEAT FOR OHIO FARMS

"A great need in wheat production in Ohio is the replacing of inferior varieties with varieties superior in certainty and quantity of yield, milling and bread-making qualities, resistance to disease, freedom from mixture with rye or other kinds of wheat and from weed seeds, and adaptation to the locality where grown," writes L. E. Thatcher, associate agronomist in the July-August Monthly Bulletin of the Ohio Experiment Station.

About forty varieties of wheat are being grown in Ohio, many of them inferior in one or more qualities. For twenty years the Experiment Station has been working to secure new varieties combining all the good points of the better old sorts and with none of their weaknesses.

The Station varieties which have been introduced as approaching nearest the ideal Ohio wheat are the Trumbull, Fulhio, Gladden, Portage, and Ohio 9920. These are being grown on many Ohio farms enabling the farmers of a community, with the assistance of their county agent to adopt the variety best adapted to local conditions.

Oilmeal Puts Finish On Steers

Well-finished steers are scarce at this time of year and are commanding a decided premium on the market There is, therefore, every inducement to feed steers out well, and if they are being fattened on pasture to feed a limited amount of oilmeal or cottonseed meal along with their corn, according to livestock men of the Ohio Experiment Station

The dry wiry grass resulting from a scant rainfall and the heat at this season does not contain enough protein to supplement the corn properly A pound or more of oilmeal or cottonseed meal daily per steer will do a lot to put that finish on the cattle which sets them off so prettily in contrast to the grass fed cattle that are now going to market in large numbers

HAS PLATES FROM FOREIGN NATIONS

One of Much Interest Is An Irish License Punctured by Sinn Feiners

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 18.—Automobile registration plates, comprising number plates from every state in the Union, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland, Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Honolulu, Canal Zone, Municipality of Panama, Cuba, Scotland, Ireland, Isle of Man, Austria and Tokio, Japan, are the unique collection of which A. W. Kelly, manager of the William F. Nye oil plant at Fish Island, is the proud possessor.

The collection, begun in 1921 by Kelly as an experiment, was completed recently. The plates are of all varieties and color schemes. In the collection there are Massachusetts plates Nos. 1, 2, 4, 5 and 6. Several plates have interesting stories connected with them, as unfolded by the persons who forwarded them to Mr. Kelly.

Probably the most interesting and thrilling tale accompanies the number plate from Dublin, Ireland, which contains three bullet holes as a result of an encounter with Sinn Feiners. This plate was forwarded by one of the Nye company's agents in Dundee, Scotland. His letter accompanying the number plate reads as follows.

"The Crossley tender that this number plate came from was involved in an ambush in Brunswick street, Dublin, by Sinn Feiners. Lieutenant Farrell and Captain Board, of the M. C., were killed in the fray. The number plate, as you will see, was pierced in three places by bullets fired by Sinn Feiners. Several of them were killed and wounded. With the aid of an automatic revolver we captured one of them. He was later hanged at Mountjoy Prison in April."

Added as a postscript is written:

to put the engine out of commission."

"The Sinn Feiners were trying

Kelly obtained most of the plates by sending letters to the American Consuls requesting number plates from those countries. In one instance the desired number plate could not be obtained without purchasing an automobile to which the plate was attached. This plate was that of Melbourne, Australia. The Vice-Consul wrote that in Australia when a car leaves the factory it has attached at the rear a square metal plate whereon the number is painted in black letters on a white background when the car is registered.

TEACHER HELD FOR THEFT OF ARTICLES VALUED AT $8,000

DAYTON, Aug. 20—Raymond T. Sullivan, 37, instructor of salesmanship and economics at Steele high school, was arrested and placed under $15,000 bond, on charges of having stolen goods worth $8,000 from a large department store where he was employed during the vacation period as floor walker. He was arraigned in police court this morning, pleaded not guilty and his bond fixed pending hearing August 21.

Police searching his home, accompanied by representatives of the store, found stolen goods in such large quantities that two auto trucks were necessary to return them to the store.

"MYSTERIOUS" FIRES BELIEVED INCENDIARY

XENIA, Aug. 20—That the series of 11 fires that broke out in the home of D. A. Dewine of the Dewine Milling Co., north of here, terrorizing the family and mystifying the community was the work of a fire bug or pyromaniac and was started by matches, was announced this morning by Dr. Clyde Adams, head of the chemical staff of Antioch college, who has been investigating the case.

Dr. Adams said that for the time the Dewine family is exonerated from any connection, but that within the next few days, the guilty person will be found.

"The investigation will be largely psychological from now on," he said Twelve of the fires occurred in one day breaking out in fabrics in closets bureau drawers and clothes in the open. Chemists were called in the belief that inflammable matter had been introduced in the fabrics.

Dock Strike Ruinous to Russian Egg Cargo

LONDON, Aug. 18—An ironical result of the recent dock strike here, which was alleged by many to be due to communistic influence, was the holding up of the second Soviet ship to reach British ports since the revolution.

She was the Proletariat, and after fruitlessly waiting for seven days for cargoes of eggs to be discharged had to return to Russia with her cargo bad and unsold.

Puffed Wheat

Steam exploded—flaky, flavory puffs

Quaker Puffed Wheat is whole wheat steam exploded—puffed to 8 times normal size. Over 125 million steam explosions are caused in every kernel.

The grains are airy, flaky, toasted, and the nut-like flavor makes them a confection.

The food cells are broken for easy digestion, so all the food elements are fitted to feed.

Minerals—vitamines—bran

Quaker Puffed Wheat in milk is the most delightful night dish any home can serve.

The wheat supplies 12 minerals which growing children need. It supplies the need of bran. And milk supplies three vitamines.

Those are foods you want your family to eat daily and in plenty. Then serve them in this tempting form. Let children revel in them.

The morning dainty

Quaker Puffed Rice is rice grains puffed to airy globules. It forms the finest breakfast dainty people ever get. Millions now enjoy it.

Both these foods are Professor Anderson's inventions. In taste and texture, and ease of digestion they hold the top place among grain foods.

Keep both kinds ever handy.

LEAPS FROM TENT SHOW TO FOLLIES

NEW YORK, Aug. 18—"Discovered by newspapermen who went west to cover the Dempsey-Gibbons fight at Shelby, Montana, petite Patricia Salmon has come to New York to seek fame and fortune.

Patricia has come on the invitation of Florenz Zigfeld himself, and will grace the newest addition of the Follies, after years of singing and dancing and yodelling in tent shows.

"She's wonderful, man," one wide-eyed scribe told Flo. The producer laughed. Another newspaperman told him the same thing. This time Flo smiled. When it happened again Ziegfeld listened soberly. And when some one else began to rave about Patricia Flo decided that he had heard enough, and wired the little girl with the "nut-brown hair and luminous brown eyes" to come on.

Those who met her at the train saw a well-built little lady, with dimples in and no rouge on her cheeks, wearing a duvetyn skirt with leather fringes, leather wristlets, a soft sombrero trimmed also in leather, and a kerchief wound about her neck which—the kerchief of course—contained the combined chromatic glories of a barber pole, an old-fashioned stick of peppermint candy and an Autumn sunset.

Little Pat is of the ingenue type, four feet eight inches tall "in flats," and says she weighs 108 punds. Her voice is soft and beautifully modulated. She has been on the stage, she explained, since she was four years of age.

To Circle World in Yacht Under Canvas

DUBLIN, Aug. 20—The 25 ton yacht Saoirse has left Kingstown Harbor with the avowed inten tion of going round the world solely under canvas.

Three Irishmen constitute the crew, and they hope to reach New Zealand before Christmas. They will return by Cape Horn, and expect to be back in Ireland by September, 1924.

The only difficulty they anticipate is the pronunciation by harbor masters of the Erse name of their craft.

U. S. Foreign Policy Will Remain Same

LONDON, Aug. 20—The American embassy has been verbally advised that President Coolidge will not change America's foreign policy, it was learned at the foreign office this afternoon. British officials said President Coolidge's decision to maintain the foreign policy of the late President Harding will not have any effect on Great Britain's plan. It is possible that Premiers Baldwin and Poincare will confer after the British cabinet discusses the French note next week.

Without A Vice-President

THERE is now no Vice-President of the United States. The man who will take up the chief duty of the Vice-President, that of presiding over the Senate, is the President pro tempore of the upper house. This office is held by Senator Cummins of Iowa. Since he is chairman of the important Interstate Commerce Committee, Senator Cummins has indicated that he would like to be relieved of the Presidency of the Senate.

In any case the shift caused by the death of President Harding deprives the Republicans in the Senate of a vote that may be badly needed in the next session. The Vice-President votes only in case of a tie. There being no Vice-President, the Republicans are shy this provisional ballot.

The nation has been without a Vice-President before this, and in one case it was in the position of having no designated successor ready to take the President's place in case of his death or disability. Because of the Garfield-Conkling quarrel, the Senate adjourned in 1881 without choosing a President pro tempore. As the existing House went out of office on March 4, 1881, there was no Speaker.

The Constitution provided that the Vice-President should become President in case of the death or disability of the Chief Executive, leaving further succession to Congress. The Congress that met in 1792 enacted that, after the Vice-President, first the President pro tempore of the Senate and then the Speaker of the House should succeed to the highest office.

Thus when in 1881 President Garfield died and Vice-President Arthur succeeded him, not only was there no Vice-President, but the two officers who followed the Vice-President in the line of Presidential succession had not been chosen.

As a result of this situation, the ever prudent Senator Hoar introduced a bill in the following Congress to make the line of succession run from the Vice-President to the Cabinet, beginning with the Secretary of State and ending with the Secretary of the Interior, and leaving out the two officers of Congress.

Upon the death of Vice-President Hendricks in 1885 discussion of succession was revived. Senator Hoar's bill was promptly passed by Congress and approved by President Cleveland in 1886. Thus, if President Coolidge should not be able to finish the present term Secretary Hughes would succeed to the Presidency. There is now no danger of the nation's finding itself again in the situation of 1881.

Farm Replacements

A LITTLE matter of eight or ten billions of dollars in the next ten years, say the Department of Agriculture's computators, must go into renewal of equipment on farms. Just now the farmers on our six and a half million farms are so busy figuring on the price of shoes that they have no time to spare for this other little matter. But the Government statisticians have it in mind.

The prospect of such a bill for renewals on the farms may surprise the city man until he stops to think of how much it takes to make a farm, in addition to the bare soil. The census figures allow the farms between eleven and twelve billion dollars' worth of buildings alone; more than 20 cents to each dollars' worth of land. The upkeep of those buildings and the replacement of those that burn or blow down seems sure to call for some $400,000,000 a year at present prices. This alone will drain four-tenths of the sum set down by the department. Recent postponement of repairs by distressed farmers will rather oblige them to increase the outlay in the future if they would preserve buildings. Without the buildings the farms cannot function.

Another great outlay, comparable with that for building maintenance, faces the farmer, in the upkeep of his implements. His working tools stand him only one-third as much as his buildings, but they probably deteriorate more than three times as fast. The old rule to charge 5 percent a year for equipment upkeep may apply to stationary and covered machinery; but the farmer's equipment has its life cut down by weather and hard going. The East has plenty of sound farm buildings nearly a century old, but where shall we find the more delicate modern farm machinery capable of lasting a generation? The farmer, moreover, can turn tinsmith or carpenter or painter, and mend his buildings, but he cannot make new metal parts for his binder-reaper or his motor tractor. These call for real money.

It may seem strange that the farms should now face a charge for implements about equal to the charge for building upkeep. Yet that charge may exceed the latter. The farmer's automobile, tho not usually accounted an implement of the farm plays a part scarcely second to the plows and the harrows. It has become a condition of the industry, in a great portion of the country, that the husbandman should have a motor vehicle. So equipment charges might well include the upkeep of his automobile, an item calling for hundreds of millions more.

Some of us can remember seeing in school histories a picture of the farm tools of 1790. Of the whole half dozen only three, the plow, scythe and spade, need be brot from so far off as the blacksmith's. Of recent years the farmer has become more and more a user of machinery. From 1910 to 1920, greatly as the value of lands increased, the value of farm machinery rose half as fast again—not counting automobiles. It had become one twenty-second of the value of the farm. Its perishable nature had virtually doubled the farm upkeep bill.

The farmer may have to go on selling at prices too low to let him meet this upkeep bill. He is where the railroads found themselves eight years ago. They too had to go on and let properties deteriorate. When the country found the railroads enfeebled in its time of need in 1917, it realized the error of having let them run down. Now is the time to prevent the farm's running down in turn from enforced neglect of equipment.

New York Day-by-Day

By O O McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug 20 — [illegible] from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys [illegible] from Paris
Pepys Mary [illegible] and I to a dog shop where we took two [illegible] dogs for a long walk in Central Park [illegible] Park and then to W [illegible]

I saw Saw, too, this day Henry Schatt.

In the afternoon to hear a man talk on a new psychology but all fiddle raddle to me. Worked for two hours and fashioned a piece for a magazine and then came Pale McDonald to see me.

At night to see Peggy Joyce in Earl Carrol's new play and she very pretty and Joe Cook as amusing a harlequin as I've seen in many days, juggling, wire walking, and what not. Afterward to Sherry's for a rarebit and so to bed.

The worst photography imaginable is done by the passport photo men around Custom House. No one apparently has ever had a good likeness reproduced there. The Treasury Department demands a "reasonable likeness" but does not get it. On lower Broadway there are dozens of sandwich men advertising passport photo studios. The photographers are mostly foreigners who will argue for an hour to make the sitee take a bulk dozen or a dozen prints. When only one is needed.

The stenographers from the financial district who spread their lunch on the graves in St. Pauls and Trinity churchyards are now having music with their meals. A strolling harpist makes the rounds each noon. It is a picnic spirit of hemmed in people expressing itself. Many "Pro Bon Publicos" have written to newspapers protesting about what they term an outrage and desecration but the custom has never been stopped. The young ladies invariably carry away the scraps and deposit them in the refuse can on the curb.

They appreciate the little open space freedom.

In my wandering around Wall Street the other day a broker told me that despite recent failures and proof of crookedness, the investing public is not squelched in its desire to get rich quick. He says the suckers are still biting. Last year more than fifty millions were taken from people who could not afford it. Recently 167 bucket shops went to the wall. But others are springing up with new and alluring bait.

Wall Street after five o'clock has the desolation of Sunday on Main Street. One can hear footfalls of watchmen guarding the huge vaults of banking establishments. The stranger is looked upon with suspicion. Employees who work there at night all know each other. Some of them in idle moments sit out along the curbs in shirtsleeves and smoke their pipes. The steam geysers from street manholes are the only signs of activity. Ten persons have their homes in bungalows on the top of Wall Street sky scrapers.

In Nassau Street there are innumerable luggage shops in basements. In one block there are 5 in a row and they have "pullers in" outside. The one armed cafes have little orchestras that play dance music for those who care to while away a few moments in fox trotting.

FARM WOMEN JOIN IN 'HENHOUSE RAISINGS'

16 Ohio Counties Have Held Such Building Bees as Demonstration of New Methods

Times change and the old-time "barn-raising" has pretty well passed from the Ohio countryside. But what do you think has come in to take their place? Henhouse "raisings"!

That's a fact. Henhouse raisings with 20 or more neighbors in to help have been held this summer in 16 counties, and will be held in at least that many more before cold weather. The farmer lays the foundation, and sends out a call to the neighbors. In they come, women as well as men, for poultry keeping on Ohio farms is pretty well in the hands of farmwives. They come early in the morning, and the men take off their coats and go to building, and the women don aprons and go into the kitchen to help the hostess prepare an old time farm dinner, which all eat together at a long table. By dinner, the frame of the house is up, and by night the building is generally boarded over, roofed and all but completed.

Frequently the women will come out in the afternoon and help to build. They do not, as a rule, work on the structure itself, but make modern nest racks and self feeders. An extension professor from the Ohio State University is there with his coat off, and with the latest plans for henhouses and henhouse furniture, leading the work.

For the idea behind these "raisings" is not so much community jesting of labor as community demonstration. Raisings are arranged by county agricultural agents on farms that plan to build new henhouses, and by actually doing the work everybody who comes gets the latest methods.

his second marriage has destroyed his chances.

"The Crown Prince, however, might possibly succeed in restoring the monarchical regime if extraordinary circumstances favored such a move, but it is unlikely. Recently he has somewhat gained in popular opinion by the manner in which he has taken his exile.

"A restoration, if it does come, will no doubt be through the cooperation of the Austrian Germans, who will join in an attempt to create a greater Germany that shall have for its eastern boundaries Russia, Hungary and the Balkan countries. Such a new Germany will gladly take up her share of the world's labors. In the Peace Palace at The Hague, we who look to the future see a symbol, gleaming thru the clouds of present-day conditions."

AMERICANS

ball star and writer for the "Shanghai Sports" magazine.

When American and municipal authorities raided the offices of the "Shanghai Sports," a weekly magazine established by Stein and carried on, in his absence, by his wife and Maloney, they found a literal bale of telegrams and letters involving numerous other alleged gun-runners. These were of British, Chinese, Japanese and Russian nationalities, as well as American.

According to Husar, the Steins acted as a clearing house for arms deals that ran into millions of dollars and included thousands of rounds of ammunition and numerous large calibre guns, including machine guns and field pieces.

One deal alone, being negotiated between Stein and Chang Tso-lin, amounted to $3,000,000, according to documents in the hands of Husar.

The letters and contracts show also that Kearney was connected with importing ond selling munitions of war which have gone to various tuchuns, military leaders and bandit chieftains.

Husar says that the arrests of those connected with the smuggling ring have just begun and that Shanghai is in for a surprise that will upset many notions of "Who's Who" in the International Settlement. Twelve men and women have been mentioned up to date in the munitions expose, but, according to Husar, more than thirty men and women will be named before the investigation which has just commenced is finished.

During the first session of the case in the United States Court the following were named in connection with the smuggling—

Captain L. D. Kearney, still sought by the police, American.

C. V. Stein, owner of "Shanghai Sports," now in Mukden, as adviser to Chang Tso-lin, warrant issued for his arrest, American.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stein, his wife, under arrest, American.

J. J. "Mal" Maloney, Shanghai baseball player, under arrest, American.

George A. Mayer, former employe of Captain Kearney, American.

L. D. Roth, former employe of Captain Kearney, American.

Harry Horowitz, Russian.

John H Willemsen, Russian interpreter.

Admiral B. V. Besoir, Russian.

Anita Stewart's Brother Is Fight Victim

Anita Stewart.

George Stewart, 21, brother of Anita Stewart, famous motion picture actress, is seriously injured in the Hospital for the Ruptured and Crippled, in New York. His skull was fractured in a fight with Ralph Ince, noted motion picture producer, according to reports of Miss Stewart's attorney. It is said young Stewart, Ince and Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Ring, stage people, were visiting roadhouses near New York in Miss Stewart's car when Ince and Stewart quarreled. Ince is said to have put Stewart out of the car and beaten him terrifically. Later Ince took Stewart, unconscious, it is reported to his apartment in the Lambs' Club, from which he was later sent to the hospital. Miss Stewart engaged counsel to prosecute Ince. Stewart is his sister's business manager.

COOLIDGE CALLED UPON TO MAKE PROMPT DECISION ON HARDING'S SHIPPING PLAN

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
Copyright 1923.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—President Coolidge has come face to face with his first major problem—Shipping policy—and he cannot wait for congress to convene but must make up his mind at once whether the policy approved by the late President Harding shall be continued or amended. He must act at once.

The president thus far has given the impression of a man who does not know what it's all about but who wants to tread cautiously and familiarize himself first with the why and the wherefore of the whole matter. Unfortunately shipping is such a complicated affair that a few conferences with Chairman Farley and the members of the shipping board will hardly give the president anything but surface thots. In the end he will have to take the judgment of the shipping board or see the whole thing disintegrate before him. Mr. Harding spent more time on the shipping question than anything else. Scarcely a day went by that he didn't work on it. Chairman Farley came into office with a distinct understanding that President Harding would follow a given policy. Mr. Coolidge is at liberty to change it and there are rumors that he wants to do so but the truth is the president doesn't konw enough about it to have such a rumor circulated. When he gets down to the bottom of it, he will approve what has been laid before him. He will do so because congress would never sanction the present method of operating government ships if it ever got at the facts. The new policy which Mr. Harding was about to put into effect is more in line with congressional sentiment than any plan that has yet been proposed. And after all the shipping board is not an executive department but an independent establishment responsible to congress.

What Mr. Farley is proposing to the president is that the shipping board shall turn from one torm of government operation to another. The government has operated ships ever since the war. But the actual work was done and is being done still by agents known as "managing operators." They have established lines and companies. The government pays these managing operators a commission on gross revenue. It doesn't matter whether a line is making money or not. The commission must be paid just the same. As a matter of fact most of the lines have been losing money and the government has been meeting the losses. The companies organized by these managing operators are owned by them—all the good will and contracts for facilities are the property of the private operators. The government heretofore has simply depended upon the agents for operation.

All this was to be changed by President Harding following the defeat of the subsidy bill. He sensed the opinion of congress to be that public funds could not be used to enrich private individuals. If a subsidy wasn't to be granted, then a commission would be equally disapproved. Preparations were made to have the American government enter into direct operation, hiring personnel not only on a commission basis but on salaries. The lines were to be grouped into from twelve to eighteen corporations which the government was to own in entirety, facilities, good-will, ships, equipment — everything. Naturally the agents who now have the commission system without any of the risk of losses do not want the plan discontinued. Some of them are said to be indulging in efforts to influence the president to maintain the present system. If he does, congress will probably go into the controversy and refuse to appropriate on that basis.

So Mr. Coolidge is up against a tangle that will give him enough to worry about for a year or more unless he gives the present shipping board the authority to go ahead as Mr. Harding did. The board adopted its policy after a conference with President Harding and over the opposition of many private interests following a struggle of many months in which all sorts of efforts were made to influence Mr. Harding to turn over the ships to private interests. He finally came to the conclusion that direct government operation was the only way to safeguard expenditures of the tax-payers' money and that if th government ever was to have a shipping system to sell to private interests, it must be in a position to sell the whole thing, ships, facilities, good-will and all the elements of a complete organization. Mr. Coolidge's caution is being mistaken for doubt. In the end he will adopt the Harding policy.

tet from the Chili Lutheran church sang several selections. The Fiat band furnished good music during the day and evening.

There was baseball a-plenty thruout the day. In the forenoon the Keene Cubs crossed bats with the Fresno school team, the former winning, 14 to 10. Boyd and Wilhelm formed the battery for Keene and Todd and Barth for Fresno. While the speaking program was in progress in the afternoon the home team from Chili played the strong Nellie aggregation with a final score of 16 to 6 in favor of Nellie. With the exception of the seventh inning during which the Nellie boys enjoyed a slugfest at the expense of "Bill" Syler, the Chili twirler, thereby netting six runs, the game furnished plenty of thrills to "rooters" for both teams. Following is the batting order of the game. Nellie: Cochran, lf., W. Kanuckle, c., Crownapple, ss., Hagans, p., Still, 1b., Werich, cf., Guthrie, 2b., Corbitt, rf., F. Kanuckel, 3b. Chili: Ross Leavengood, 1b., Russell Leavengood, ss., Lovell, 2b., Olinger, rf., Huffman, c., Syler, p., McClure, lf., Carter, 3b., Budd Leavengood, cf. The winners of this game then played Canal Lewisville, Nellie again walking off with the long end of the score, 10 to 6. The features of the afternoon games was the consistent pitching of Hagans, who worked in the box thruout both games for Nellie, keeping his opponents' hits well scattered and winning both contests with ease. Nellie's lineup was the same as in the first game and Lewisville batted as follows: Mencer, cf., Norman lf., Carter, ss., Carpenter, 2b., Cramblett, p and 3b., McCabe, rf., Lennon, 1b., Callahan, c., McGiffin, 3b and p.

The Chili Picnic has become an "event" among the rural social functions of Coshocton-co. A resident of Chili and member of this year's committee-in-charge stated to a Tribune representative Saturday that every summer since 1870, for 53 years, a picnic had been held in that same grove on the hill. He took pardonable pride in calling attention to the splendid country around the village, to the ideally-located grounds and to the results of this year's committee's efforts.

Four institutions of Chili, the three churches and the Woodmen lodge, alternate in holding the picnic; and with this year's attendance the largest ever known and not an accident to mar the success of the occasion, a mark has well been set for the 1924 committee.

The efforts of J. A. Coburn's Minstrels to keep faith with patrons for the past twenty five years in clean comedy and "Your Moneys Worth" has never been more closely followed than in the present season and it is said their performance at the Sixth St. Theatre on Tuesday, Aug. 21st, will demonstrate it as the best production Manager Coburn has ever had. Many new faces of well known minstrel men, character sketches, farces and vaudeville acts with which the performance is said to abound promises a splendid evening's enjoyment. Hank White's "Egyptology In The Valley Of The Kings" more pretentious if possible than last year's afterpiece, provides thrills, laughter, amazement and topical humor. DeVaro & DeCarlo that excruciatingly funny and clever acrobatic act "Rastus and the Old Man Darkey" direct from the Keith Circuit, is the only act retained from last year's show and was reengaged solely at the request of many patrons who wished to witness this clever pair this year. It was repeatedly said this act alone was worth the price of admission. Seats at Theatre, Monday Aug. 20th.
